The roof is finished on the new Aspy building, next to the wholesale grocery.

Grading for the new brick block is being done on the site of the old blue front stable, east Douglas avenue.

Mrs. E. H. and Miss Belle Nowlin from Princeton, Iowa, are in the city visiting with C. C. Nowlin, of this place.

The ball given by the Catholic Knights of St. Joseph in the opera house, night before last was in every respect a grand success.

The stone masons are putting in their last blocks on the foundation of M. W. Levy's residence, corner of Topeka avenue and

First street.

Lapins & Co. are fitting up one side of Hecht's old jewelry stand on Douglas avenue for a drug store. D. M. Weil occupy the other side with a stock of jewelry.

The state board of railroad assessors passed through this city yesterday morning going out to Kingman, returning in the evening on a going south to the line of the Indian Territory.

G. W. Smith, the well-known, tenorist artist of Douglas avenue, has just finished papering, painting and refitting his shop and is now prepared to do his customers up in excellent style.

Mrs. James J. Robinson lost somewhere between the store on Main street and residence a gold earring set with turquoise for the return of which a liberal reward will be paid by Robinson Bros.

We are informed that Miss D. Mott has resigned her position as editor of the New Republic, and now gives her attention to the organization of the order known as the "Champions of the Red Cross."

We are told that lots are selling like hot cakes in the new town of Englewood, Clark county. It is said that $11,000 worth was sold there last week. It is supposed the Sunflower road will build to that town, which expectations are high.

Belva A. Lockwood, the distinguished lawyer and lecturer, will appear in the opera house Friday night, April 10. Reserved seats, 75 cents; general admission, 50 cents; gallery, 25 cents. Tickets on sale at postoffice book store Thursday morning.

Our old and faithful postoffice clerk,

Claude Nott, who struck out a few weeks ago for the wilds of the west is back again.

Claude says he has got a splendid claim in a country of the most beautiful scenery where the crystal streams purr over brilliantly colored pebbles and all the living bluffs are crowned with trees. Claude is happy and fat and pities from the bottom of his heart the average postoffice clerk.

There seems to be a future for lots in Perry's addition, near the terminus of the new street car railway in the southern part of the city. Thirty-six lots were sold there on Monday and several were reported yesterday. These lots are great favorites with both builders and speculators, as they are beautifully located, are within a few steps of the new street railway, and are selling for from one-half to one-third of the usual price for equally good lots, but little nearer the business center of the city.

GLAD ITS ALL OVER.

Nobody is so happy when an election is over as an editor of a recognized organ, not even the successful candidates themselves.

Whatever the result, the closing of the polls is the signal of a burden lifted, of a strain relaxed, of an anxiety gone. For weeks previous to the day a thousand influences and interests, many of them unsuspected by the general public, are brought to bear upon such a paper, and the editor like an overdriven beast, is spurred and whacked, criticized and derided, and all the while expected to keep the road and the traces stretched.

He may have really less personal interest in the result than the particular friend of the lowest candidate in the field. If it is a defeat it is attributed to him, if a success it is due to somebody else. While others sleep he is expected to remain awake and think.

The candidates themselves will move along unconcerned, relying upon the idea that all the schemes of the opposition will be met and exposed by the editor of the party paper. Citizens whose every closest interest is involved in the result of a local election, will ignore the fact of a weak ticket, and even the methods by which the nomination was secured, and then curse the leading paper of their party for having permitted a defeat, or for having said injudicious things. So we are glad that there are no more elections to occur for the next six months, although at this writing we have but the remotest notion of the result of the ballots now being counted in the various wards of this city. The average man may talk of untrammelled manhood, of independent journalism, and all that, and declare that it makes little difference which way an election goes, but such talk is base counterfeiting, and contemptible cheap. But for the vigilance of individuals upon both sides, and the conserving counselling and directing of forces, the entire political machinery of government, nationally as well as locally, would be resolved into rings and combinations of selfish interests. Therefore, while the political writer's lot may be a hard and unenviable one, it is as necessary as any victim is sure—as the sacrifice is certain.

WEDDING BELLS.

Married, by the Rev. J. D. Hewitt, at the residence of the bride, on Central avenue, at this city, Tuesday morning, April 7th at 8 o'clock, Mr. Alfred Hickey and Mrs. Julia Ferber. The happy united party left for

New York.

There are few men in Wichita with whom our personal relations have been more interested than with Alfred Hickey, who is one of nature's truest and most unselfish noblemen; and, most heartily is he congratulated upon the happy event which under his auspices will result in a lady so truly refined, so highly accomplished and so womanly withal, as she whom he now calls by that name of names, "wife." Beauty and worth in one who is now to become the truest, tenderest friend, what other joy of life can compare.

And you as rich on having such a jewel

As twenty sons, if all their sons were pearl,

The water netter, and the rocks pure gold."

At 6 o'clock this morning at the residence of the bride's mother on south Water street, by the Rev. W. F. Harper, Mr. J. D. Houston and Miss Fannie L. Eddy, all of this city.

The happy bride and groom leave on the 7 o'clock train for Kentucky, where, after visiting the people of the newly made bene-dicted, they will visit the wonderful Mammoth cave, and thence to the exposition at New Orleans. The bride extends her hearty congratulations with the expressed hope that when the fish of youth has passed and fancy's dreams have resolved themselves into sober, earnest life, her friends may find their hearts as warm and true as on the morning of their nuptial vows.

"My bride,"

My wife, my life, O, we will walk this Yield in all exercise of noble man."

THE COLORED BAPTISTS.

April 4, 1886.

To the Editor of the Eagle.

Quarterly report of my pastoral work in the Second Baptist church in this city.

Feeling it would be interesting to your readers of the daily who are friends of religion, give you a few points connected with our regular work.

After several successive weeks engaged in a series of meetings, we are thankful to say that the Lord has blessed our labors by manifesting himself in our midst and a few souls have been added to His kingdom in the earth. We are few in number that are enlisted in this great work, but our Saviour lost his disciples to fear not little flock, for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.

On taking charge of the church, last September I found it in the slough of despond, but prayer was made without ceasing until God for the church, and after several months the church was revived and a number of disciples added. By restoration, 4 watch care, 10, and conversion, 10, total, 25.

Our series of meetings will close Sunday night, April 5th. With regret that many of our members who have manifested a desire to come to Christ, but we pray that the seed that has been sown in the Master's name may be like the seed that was cast upon the water, that shall be seen and gathered after many days.

Pray for us, my fellow disciples, that God will carry on the good work in the interests of the people.

Sunday, April 12, our baptizing will take place. The place and hour will be mentioned later.

Regular services every Sunday at 11 a. m.

Sunday school at 2:30 p. m., and preaching at 7:45 p. m.
